

CIRCULAR LETTER NO. 393

April 28, 1997

CIRCULAR LETTER TO ALL BRITISH COLUMBIA LAND SURVEYORS

Re: Revised Statutes and Other Items

The provincial statutes have undergone a revision which includes plain language conversion and renumbering. The revised statutes were proclaimed April 21, 1997 and are now in force. Please note that many of the sections in both the Land Act and Land Surveyors Act have been renumbered. Copies of all statutes are now available from Crown Publications in both hard copy and digital formats. For general use the statutes can be found on the Queens Printer's web site at http://www.qp.gov.bc.ca/stat_reg/statutes.

Crown Land Registry Services and the Office of the Surveyor General now have a web site located at <http://www.env.gov.bc.ca/clrs> containing information such as:

- Information on cadastral reform;
- Branch products and services;
- Branch initiatives;
- Links to statutes applicable to our operations;
- Information on the Office of the Surveyor General;
- Circular letters to British Columbia Land Surveyors (most recent only); and
- Other information and historical facts

We hope that this web site will become a communication tool for clients, other ministries, regional governments and the public to find out what initiatives are being developed within the branch. It is anticipated that the General Survey Instructions and other documents will be available soon. Please provide me with comments and/or other items that you would like to see on our site.

I would like to take this opportunity to advise all land surveyors that, as of April 16, 1997, I have been appointed to the position of Surveyor General.

Yours sincerely,

Chuck Salmon
Surveyor General
